This indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk profile of the Fund.

The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time. The lowest category does not mean risk free.

The risk indicator for the Fund is set as 4, which reflects the historic price behaviour of the Fund. Factors that affect the profile of this Fund include:

- Investments in equity securities are subject to fluctuations in value dependent on market conditions which will directly affect the value of investments held by the Fund
- Investments in bonds and fixed income securities are subject to interest rate fluctuations which will directly affect the value of investments held by the Fund.
- Some of the securities in which this Fund invests may be non-investment grade as determined by leading rating agencies.
- Investments in corporate hybrid bonds are subject to a unique set of risks of these investment instruments,
- Bonds and other debt securities are subject to both actual and perceived measures of creditworthiness. The 'downgrading' of a debt security could decrease the value and liquidity of the security.

Additional specific risks of investing in this Fund include:

Investments in corporate hybrid debt, will carry additional risks associated with coupon payments being deferred wholly or partially, maturity may be shorter or longer than anticipated and may lose its value in case of bankruptcy of the issuer.

Investment in some markets, particularly emerging markets, may carry risks associated with failed or delayed settlement of market transactions and with the registration and custody of securities. Investment in such markets may involve a higher than average risk. Investors should consider whether or not investment in the Fund is either suitable for or constitutes a substantial part of an investor's portfolio.

Companies in emerging markets may not be subject:

- (a) disclosure requirements comparable to those applicable to companies in major markets;
- (b) to the same level of government supervision and regulation of stock exchanges as countries with more advanced securities markets.

Accordingly, certain emerging markets may not afford the same level of investor protection as would apply in more developed jurisdictions. Restrictions on foreign investment in emerging markets may preclude investment in certain securities by certain Sub-funds and, as a result, limit investment opportunities for such Sub-funds. Substantial government involvement in, and influence on, the economy may affect the value of securities in certain emerging markets.

The reliability of trading and settlement systems in some emerging markets may not be equal to that available in more developed markets, which may result in delays in realising investments.

Lack of liquidity and efficiency in certain stock markets or foreign exchange markets in certain emerging markets may mean that from time to time the Investment Manager may experience more difficulty in purchasing or selling holdings of securities than it would in a more developed markets.

- Credit Risk: the risk that the perceived financial standing of the assets of the Fund changes unexpectedly which may affect the value of the assets.
- Custody and Settlement Risk: the risk that the transactions entered into by the Fund are not settled or registered as appropriate.
- Financial Derivatives Risk: the risk that financial derivatives may increase or reduce exposure to underlying assets and may create gearing; therefore their use may result in greater fluctuations of the Net Asset Value of the Fund.
- Liquidity Risk: the risk that the assets of the Fund may have low levels of liquidity in some circumstances.
- Operational Risk: the risks associated with correctly reflecting the value and safekeeping of the assets of the Fund.

The Prospectus and Supplement provide further details about other risks the Fund may be exposed to - see under "Practical Information" for how to obtain a copy.
